KIB & KIC Lubricator Replacement

General & Background

The KI Lubricator is a one-shot manual lubricator. These lubricators are spring discharge piston pumps mounted in the reservoir of the machine. Pulling out the tee handle fills the cylinder with oil and spring pressure discharges the oil into the distribution system automatically and returns the handle to the original position.

Replacing KIB/KIC with L5P/L5H or L18P Lubricator

With the KI series obsolete, the best replacement would be to go with our L5 or L18 lubricators. They will need to be mounted on the outside of the machine instead of mounting inside the machine reservoir. The outlet thread size is the same 5/16-24 female as the KI series. Tubing from the machines lube system can then be connected to the new lubricator.
